CONFERENCE SPEAKERS

Keynote: "A Good Case of Heartburn"

Mike Patin, who has presented in over 115 dioceses in North America to clergy, schools, businesses and athletic teams, will speak about the role of passion in our faith – how to increase it, how not to lose it.

"Poor Banished Sons of Eve"

Fr. Paul Nicholson, a sought-after presenter at men's conferences in North America, will address the epic disappearance of men from Western Christianity and possible solutions.

"What the Woman's Gift Holds for Men and Women Today"

Mary Kaufman, director of Incarnate Institute and a former international instructor for the Catherine of Sienna Institute, will examine the 'feminine genius' and its role today.

"Equipping Street Saints: How to do Compassion Ministry that Transforms Lives"

Barbara Elliott, recipient of the Eleanor Roosevelt Award for Human Rights, shares the wisdom of people who have gotten out of the pew and into the community, and how they are transforming lives, with God's grace.

"The Power of Music to Evangelize"

John Burland, Australian educator and composer of religious music for children, will share a variety of music and activities suitable for children and families that support and promote evangelization.

"Awakening: Becoming Fully Alive in Christ"

Jake and Heather Khym want to help others experience what has restored their lives: the person of Christ who brings life to dead places and awakens us to the power of His presence in order to set the world ablaze!

"Setting Hearts on Fire, the Call and Challenge of Transformational Leaders"

Ministry entrepreneur and leader Brett Powell will explore the essence of transformational leadership, needed today to infuse hope and mobilize people.
